

MOONGIRL

Henry Selick illustrated by Peter Chan and Courtney Booker

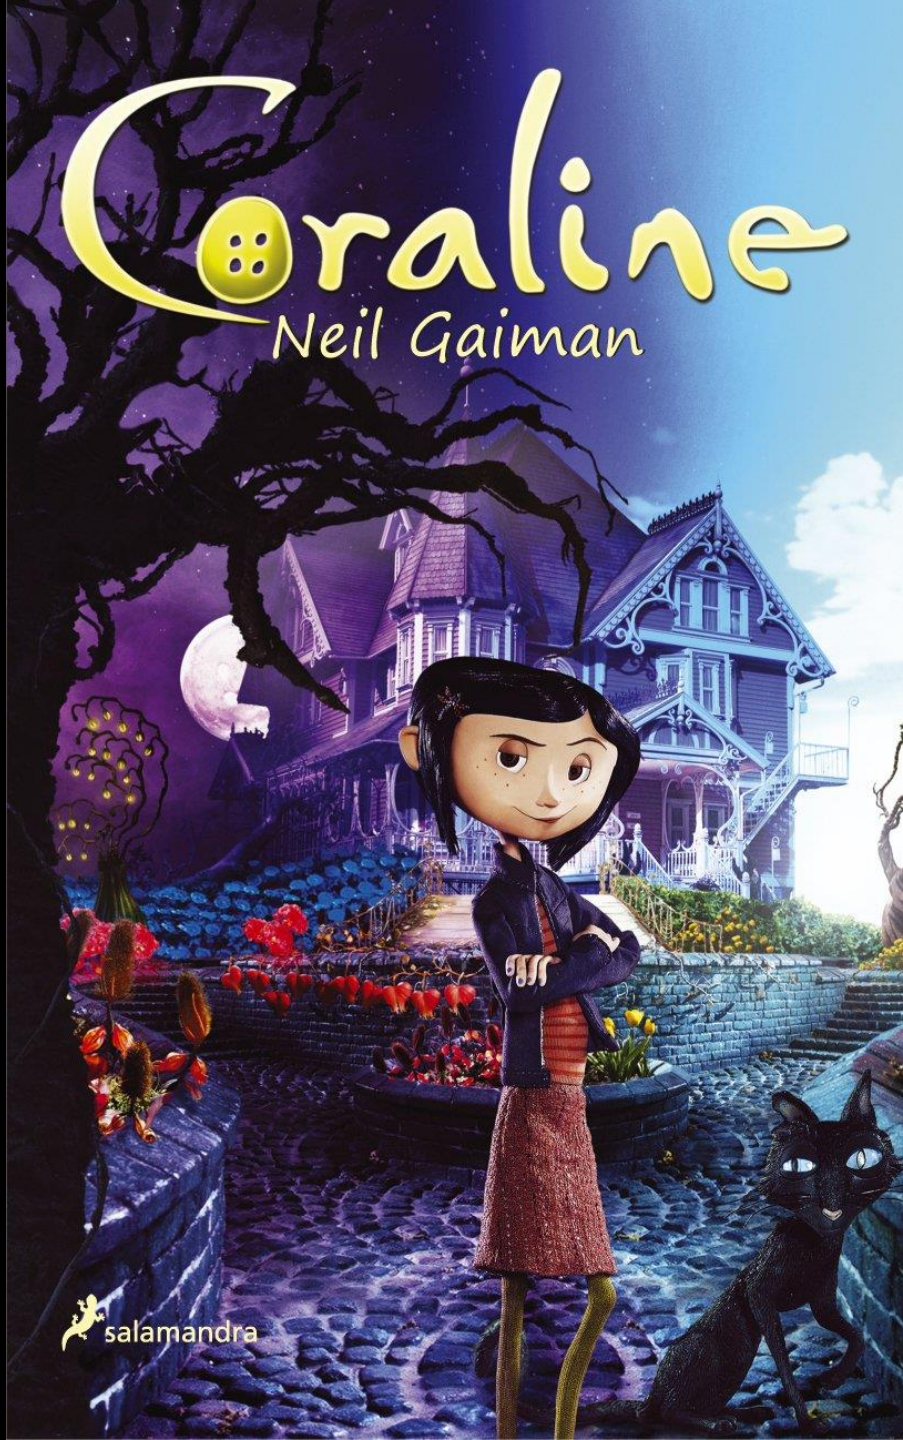

Coraline

The title "Coraline" is rendered in a white, hand-drawn, cursive font. The letter 'o' is replaced by a realistic, grey button with four holes. The letter 'i' is replaced by a black silhouette of a cat hanging upside down by its tail. A bright, glowing light source is positioned behind the 'i', creating a lens flare effect that illuminates the surrounding area.

NORMAN - How to make a Norman

The following is a detailed description of the "NORMAN" assembly instructions found in the notebook:

- Ball on at 45°: A small diagram shows a ball joint with a pin inserted at a 45-degree angle. Labels include "1/16" (referring to the ball diameter), "5/32" (referring to the pin diameter), and "use 440 when fitting".
- Grind this on the ball: A note indicating that the ball should be ground to a specific shape.
- SHOULDER (S): A diagram shows a shoulder on a rod with a diameter of 1/16" and a length of 1/4". The shoulder has a diameter of 5/32".
- EASY!: A note indicating that the assembly is simple.
- Both sides: A note indicating that the assembly should be done on both sides.
